

The Tree Company, tackle, tricky, tree!!

The Tree Company were called in to remove a hazardous tree that had recently been damaged due to the high winds we have been experiencing lately. The large mature Ash tree on an estate near Castletownsend, West Cork had suffered a catastrophic collapse of the main trunk and had fallen into adjacent trees which had in turn stopped it falling onto a neighbouring property. Vehicle access to tree was limited so lifting equipment could not be employed in its removal. The Tree Company tackled and solved the problem of the tree removal by climbing an adjacent tree then dismantling the tree while using a complex rigging system to control the lowering of the heavy timber to the ground, ensuring no damage to persons or property, life or limb and everyone went home tired but safe.
